

NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES

Effective Date: October 21, 2025

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

Your health information is private, and no one without a legitimate need to know may have access to it. Vita Health (“Practice”) is required by law to maintain the privacy of your health information and to provide you with a notice of its legal duties and privacy practices. If a breach of your unsecured protected health information occurs, Practice will notify you without unreasonable delay, and no later than 45 days, in accordance with applicable federal and Oregon state law.

Practice will not use or disclose your health information except as described in this Notice of Privacy Practices (“Notice”). This Notice applies to all the medical records generated during your treatment at Practice.

EXAMPLES OF DISCLOSURE FOR TREATMENT, PAYMENT AND HEALTH OPERATIONS

The following categories describe the ways that Practice may use and disclose your health information:

Treatment: Practice will use your health information in the provision and coordination of your healthcare. We may disclose all or any portion of your medical record information to your physician, consulting physician(s), nurses and other healthcare providers who have a legitimate need for such information in the care and continued treatment of the patient. For example, a healthcare provider treating you for an injury can ask another healthcare provider about your overall health condition.

Payment: Practice may release medical information about you for the purposes of determining coverage, billing, claims management, medical data processing and reimbursement. The information may be released to an insurance company, third-party payor or other entity (or their authorized representatives) involved in the payment of your medical bill and may include copies or excerpts of your medical record that are necessary for payment of your account. For example, to the extent Practice bills for services it provides to you, a bill sent to a third-party payor may include information that identifies you, your diagnosis, the procedures and supplies used.

Routine Healthcare Operations: Practice may use and disclose your medical information during routine health care operations to run our practice, improve your care, and contact you when necessary. For example, we can use your health information to manage your treatment and services.

Business Associates: Practice may use and disclose certain health information about you to its business associates. A business associate is an individual or entity under contract with Practice to perform or assist Practice in a function or activity that necessitates the use or disclosure of medical information. Examples of business associates include but are not limited to, a copy service used by the Practice to copy medical records, consultants, independent contractors, accountants, lawyers, medical transcriptionists and third-party billing companies. Practice requires the business associate to protect the confidentiality of your medical information. In addition, Practice requires any subcontractor of Practice's business associate to protect the confidentiality of your medical information.

Regulatory Agencies: Practice may disclose your medical information to public health or legal authorities charged with preventing or controlling disease, injury or disability. For example, billing practices may be audited by the State Auditor and records are subject to review by the Secretary of Health and Human Services and his/her authorized representatives.

Workers' Compensation: Practice may release medical information about you for workers' compensation or similar programs that provide benefits for work-related injuries or illnesses.

Military Veterans: Practice may disclose your medical information as required by military command authorities if you are a member of the armed forces.

Inmates: If you are an inmate of a correctional institution or under the custody of a law enforcement officer, Practice may release your medical information to the correctional institution or law enforcement official.

Organ and Tissue Donation Requests: Medical information can be shared with organ procurement organizations.

Medical Examiner or Funeral Director: Medical information can be shared with a coroner, medical examiner, or funeral director when an individual dies.

Required by Law: Practice will disclose medical information about you when required to do so by law, for example, responding to lawsuits and legal actions.

Other Uses: Other uses and disclosures of your health information not covered by this Notice or applicable laws will be made only with your written authorization. You may revoke that authorization, in writing, at any time.

PATIENT INFORMATION RIGHTS

Although all records concerning your treatment obtained at Practice are the property of Practice, you have the following rights concerning your medical information:

Right to Confidential Communications: You have the right to receive confidential communications of your medical information by alternative means or at alternative locations. For example, you may request that Practice contact you only at work or by mail.

Right to Inspect and Copy: You have the right to inspect and copy your medical information.

Right to Amend: You have the right to amend your medical information. Any request for amendment should be submitted to Practice in writing, stating a reason in support of the amendment.

Right to an Accounting: You have the right to obtain an accounting of the disclosures of your medical information made during the preceding six (6) year period.

Right to Request Restrictions: You have the right to request restrictions on certain uses and disclosures of your medical information. Practice is not required to honor your request except where: (i) the disclosure is for the purpose of carrying out payment or healthcare operations and is not otherwise required by law, and (ii) the medical information pertains solely to a healthcare item or service for which you, or person other than the health plan on your behalf, has paid Practice in full.

Right to Receive a Paper Copy: You have the right to receive a paper copy of this Notice.

Right to Receive Electronic Copies: You have the right to receive electronic copies of your medical information.

Right to Choose Someone to Act For You: If you have given someone medical power of attorney or if someone is your legal guardian, that person can exercise your rights and make choices about your health information.

Right to Revoke Authorization: You have the right to revoke your authorization to use or disclose your medical information, except to the extent that action has already been taken in reliance on your authorization. A request to exercise any of these rights must be submitted, in writing, to Practice at Vita Health 199 East 5th Avenue, Eugene, OR 97401 or by contacting Practice at 541-362-9500.

STATE LAWS MORE RESTRICTIVE THAN HIPAA

Oregon State law complies with Federal law except for the following differences:

Oregon Right of Consent: Consent to disclose HIV status, mental health diagnoses and history of substance abuse is required.

Oregon Right to Receive Electronic Copies: Requests for medical records requires a response within 15 days, not 30 days according to federal mandates

Oregon Right to Breach Notification: Oregon requires breach notification within 45 days, not 60 days

Oregon Right to Consent to treatment: Oregon allows minors 14 and older to consent to medical care.
